Come into the library and go to the left.
From the window you will see the potato that was once here but now is there.
Turn to your right and take a short hike.
Walk by the computers that connect the world.
Go straight through the doorway to a different place in our world.
Head back to the desk and say hello to the traveling bear.
Go right past the films that will take your imagination for a spin.
At the end of the aisle take a right turn,
find the book that talks and you are almost there.
About face and head towards the door to find what you are looking for.
It is in the thing that rolls, but goes nowhere.
(If you haven't found it, it's in the ESCRITORE).
Mr. Webster will gladly help you with that!
